

An eighteen-year-old girl was holding a knife over the bed of her sleeping mother. Two men were pulling her back. One was her father, Mr Warner. The other was a policeman.

“This is the work of the devil,” said Mr Warner.

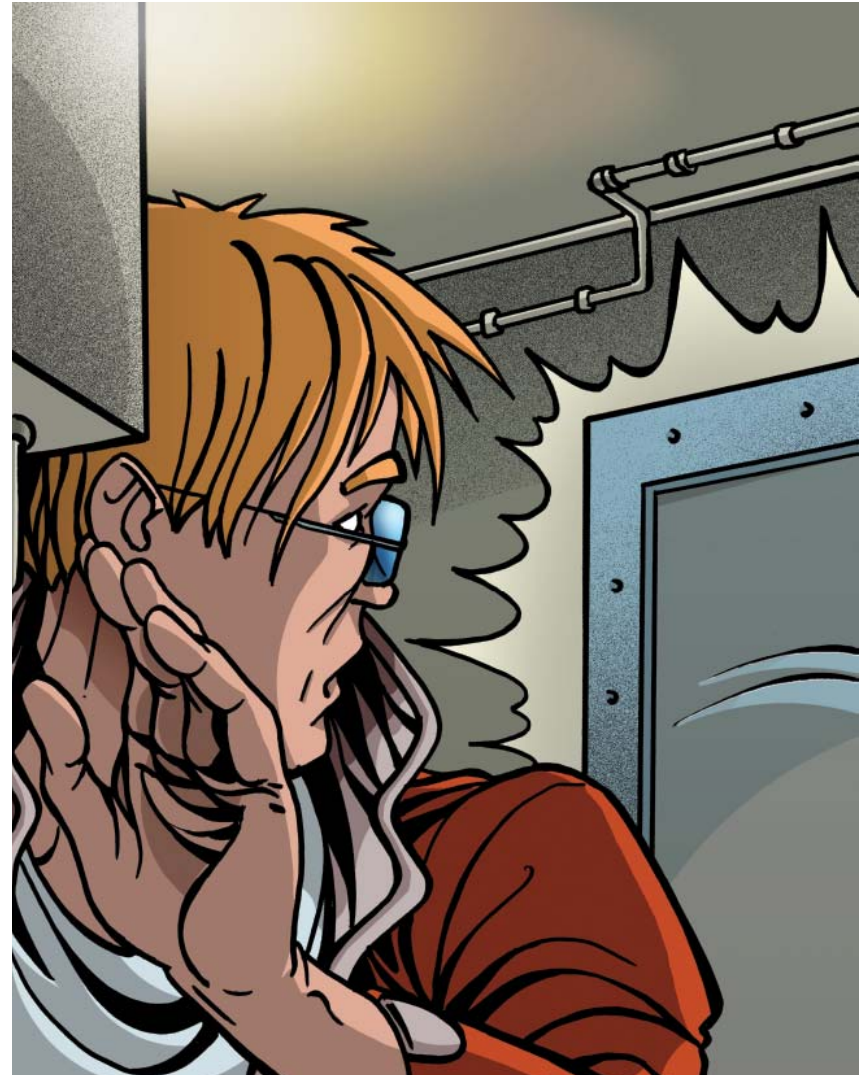

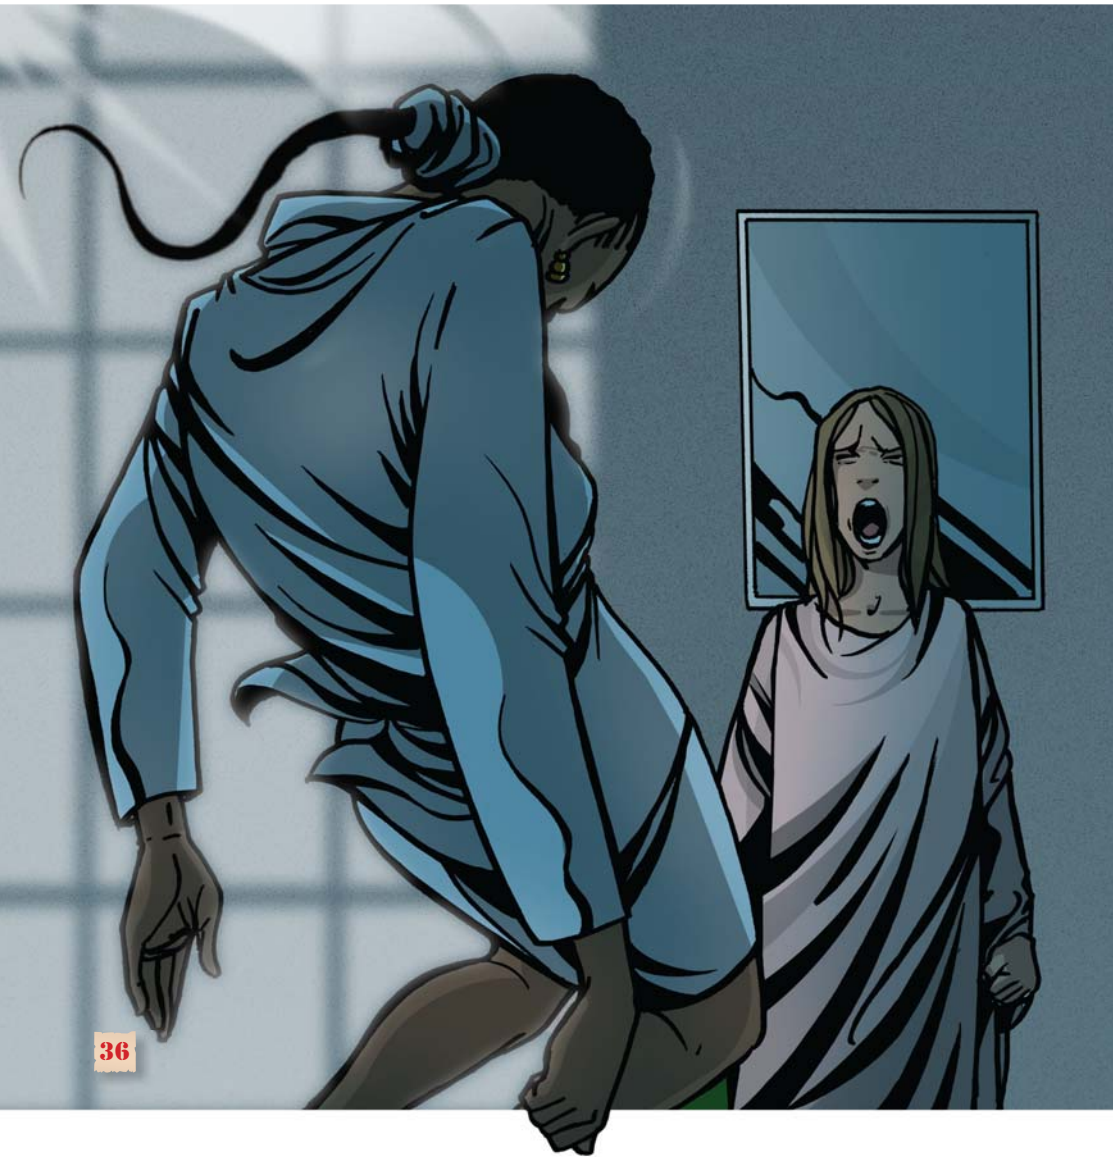

The policeman put handcuffs on the girl.

“Look at her eyes. She’s fast asleep,” he said.

“Don’t be fooled. The devil has many tricks,” replied Warner.

The door opened. Turnbull shone the torch into the room. She saw Amanda standing there. Suddenly Amanda screamed. Something hit Turnbull over the head and she passed out.

Down in the cellar, Parker had found the fuse box. As he fixed the light, the door slammed shut. He was trapped!
